

Author Barbara Clark, Ph.D. Education

Dr. Clark has spent her career working with children and adults with disabilities in rehabilitation and educational settings. Her passion is helping children with disabilities learn and thrive. She feels that educating the community regarding disabilities will increase understanding and acceptance.

She grew up in the Catskill Mountains of NY but her home for many years has been in Bucks County, PA. Living with her husband and two fluffy oversized dogs, she enjoys reading, singing, traveling, and the arts. Her favorite activity is spending time with the little children who call her "Grandma."
